REGION COMMISSION 'NOT LEGAL' TO HANDLE MONEY

— 'Urgent problem' says secretary

The Western Region Commission is facing urgent administration problems because it is not legally constituted to receive, handle and distribute public money.

Commission secretary, Mr. Bill Williams, said this yesterday. He said also the commission had asked the Federal Government for financial aid totalling almost $800 million.

The commission was an identity in that it was recognised by the Federal Government and the 10 councils it comprised had financially contributed to it and elected delegates.

And it was recognised in that the Victorian Government and the Board of Works corresponded with it.

But the commission did not have a legal constitution, so had no legal identity, Mr. Williams said.

Such identity was necessary to receive and handle government grants, he added.

That the commission did not have a legal constitution was easy to understand, because it was the first organisation of its kind in Australia.

No conclusions had been reached by the Federal or State governments — or municipal councils — on how such a commission should be constituted.

The Federal Government's attitude on a constitution appeared to be to leave it to the commission, Mr. Williams said.

The commission was considering ways it could constitute itself in a form acceptable to the Federal and State governments.

The possibility of establishing a non-profit, incorporated company had been proposed, he said.

CANBERRA STYLE

However, the commission had decided to first examine the possibility of establishing a legal organisation such as the National Capital Development Commission.

This organisation was established several years after Federation, to co-ordinate the development of Canberra.

Reports on this and discussion on a constitution were listed for the commission's next meeting, on November 30, Mr. Williams said.

The issue was urgent because of the millions of dollars of federal money expected to flow into the western area of Melbourne and adjacent shires.

Federal money known to be available included:

● $3 million immediately for an area improvement programme.

This was comparatively small, but was the first-year allocation for a five-year programme, Mr. Williams said.

● $724,992 as the first year's allocation in a three-year, $2 million-plus welfare programme.

In addition large amounts, not yet determined, would be made available by the Federal Government for improved health services.

Bandits had planned attack well

Thieves who attacked a policeman and a hotel manager in Altona on Saturday night were well organised and running to a tight schedule.

After a hectic incident in the street and a near-by car park they got away with $8264.

They are known to have stolen a two-door Valiant at the Alfred Hospital some time after 10 p.m. and changed the locks before getting themselves in position for the Altona robbery.

The lock-changing is apparently increasingly common among professional thieves who steal getaway cars.

Understandably, it would be embarrassing to charge out of a bank to find the getaway car had been stolen.

In this case the getaway car was abandoned in Irwin Road, North Altona, less than half a mile from the robbery.

The Armed Robbery Squad, which is making the investigation surmised that the thieves' own car was planted there.

One of the bandits fired three or four shots at Senior Detective Lawrence Pitts, of Laverton CIB, who has been accompanying hotel manager Mr. Vernon Watts to the bank.

The shots were fired at point-blank range as Detective Pitts chased the bandit into a car park — and the police think he was using a starting pistol.

While the action was on in the car park, the second bandit snatched the money from Mr. Watts.

He then drove the car at Senior Detective Pitts, and the two robbers escaped.

Senior Detective Pitts is back on duty unharmed by his experience.

According to a senior police spokesman he was: "Considerably shaken up, but unharmed, by his experiences."

How to have your cake and eat it

Usually when you give money to charity, you hand over the cash, and that's it.

All you get in return is a warm feeling.

This year you can be charitable and do yourself a good turn at the same time.

The Lions Club throughout Australia are selling Christmas cakes with profits aiding the Save Sight campaign.

The Lions will help blind people with money raised from the sale of cakes.

Altona residents can contribute their share as well as treating themselves to a lovely three-pound fruit cake for only $1.90.

Cakes will be delivered in the Altona area, interested people can order them on 398 1687.

Several Altona Lions and their wives will visit Ballarat this weekend for the Lions District 201F Annual Convention.

Lions from as far as Rainbow, in the Mallee, Apsley, Apollo Bay and Casterton will be in attendance as well as clubs from the western suburbs of Melbourne.

The monthly paper drive continues to be the Altona club's main fund raising project. Because of restrictions placed on the selling of paper, the club is only able to collect clean newspapers. Magazines and cardboard cartons are of no use. The next paper drive will be on Sunday, November 4.

These Lions are no paper tigers

These Lions (below) are for little talk and lots of action... Lions Jack O'Sullivan and Norm Woodcock and Lion Cub, Colin Burkitt load papers for delivery to a local factory.

Wartime romance relived

An Altona couple travelled thousands of miles recently to relive their wartime romance.

During a hectic five-week tour of Europe, Purnell Street residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Coleman visited picturesque German towns, reminiscent of Bad Gandersheim, where they met in 1945 during the Allied occupation of Germany.

And in Zurich, Switzerland, they tracked down top European band leader Will Glahe, the man who provided the music during their whirlwind courtship.

Mr. Coleman an employee of the Altona-based firm, Australian Synthetic Rubber Co. Ltd., was a sergeant with the 2nd Battalion Cameronian Scottish Rifles, when he met his German wife, Val.

At the time Germany was still smarting from the devastation and there was little entertainment for the troops.

But the inhabitants of Bad Gandersheim were fortunate to have the accordion playing of German prisoner of war Will Glahe.

Glahe was badly wounded and would probably have been shot by the Russians but for Mr. Coleman's commanding officer, who ordered that the German and his fellow POWs travel with the Cameromians to Bad Gandersheim when

• Mr and Mrs Coleman, when they met in Germany in 1945.

• And on holiday in England recently.

they pulled out of Stendal, which was zoned to the Russians.

Busy still

Today, Will Glahe is 72 and busier than ever. He has seven gold records to his credit and he recently released an LP to celebrate 25 years of recording with the Decca Record Company.

After the war, Mr. Coleman returned to his home in Brighton, England and waited an agonising nine months before being reunited with his German girlfriend.

The Colemans were married shortly after Mrs. Coleman (then Val Hoffman) arrived in England.

The Colemans migrated to Australia with their three children in 1963, but it was not until 1966 that Mr. Coleman again heard the music of Will Glahe. He was walking through Myers when he saw and purchased a Glahe record.

Then not more than three weeks ago, the Colemans weren't quite sure if they were dreaming when Glahe, now a millionaire, entertained them at his home in Switzerland.

After trying unsuccessfully for days to find the ageing musician, the Colemans inquired with the Swiss police, who gave them Glahe's address.

Even today, Glahe is thankful to the Cameromians for saving his life and the Colemans were privileged to see him, as he rarely gives interviews or entertains people.

"During the war many people fell in love, to my music," he told the Colemans.

Nevertheless he was thrilled that the couple from Altona had travelled all the way from Australia to see him.

And the Colemans have a memento of the occasion — one of Glahe's award-winning LPs personally autographed by the band-leader.

During their five-week holiday, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman spent a short time in England visiting friends and relatives before touring seven European countries in a Kombi bus, with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morrison, of Werribee.

At the same time, the Coleman's eldest son, Ron, spent a month in England and later met his parents in Germany, returning to Australia via Holland, Belgium and Singapore.

Former music master commends 'Mikado'

A former music master at Altona High School, Mr. E. Marsaus, has written to the Star praising the standard of works of the performers in the Altona Youth Theatre's performance of The Mikado.

Mr. Marsaus writes: "It is five years since I have had the opportunity to come to Altona. I have been invited by the Altona Youth Theatre to attend the performance of the opera Mikado.

"It was a great pleasure and experience to me because I have been Music Master at the Altona High School for eight years where I have staged five Gilbert and Sullivan operas.

"My interest in the performance of the Mikado was aroused by the fact that nearly all of the performers, including the conductor, were my former students of the Altona High School.

"I had now the opportunity to compare the present standards of the performance with those of the earlier years at the high school.

"I am writing this to express my great pleasure and to compliment the young artists with the progress they have made.

"Speaking as a music critic I must underline the high level of the achievements by the members of the choir for the pure and well disciplined singing.

"The quality of their singing suggests that besides enthusiasm the singers have put into their work a great deal of professional effort.

"It is a good example of an artistic achievement and a pride to Altona and indeed to Melbourne.

"Another point I would like to mention is that their acting was very well co-ordinated with singing which is a sign of artistic maturity.

"Listening to the soloists' performance I was surprised about their progress especially about their ability to create an artistic harmony between musical and acting activity.

"This is an integral part on the road towards perfection.

"On the whole, the performance was well prepared with a balanced musical and dramatic action."

Kids go to blazes

Altona kids sure know how to handle fires!

In fact, they sure know how to go to blazes — and, more important, what to do when they get there.

The Altona Petrochemical Company played hosts to 80 students from Altona High and Technical schools last week in a demonstration of how to fight a fire.

The exercise was part of the company's fire prevention week programme and the students heard a talk from the company's safety co-ordinator, Mr. Ron Courtot.

They were also given an essay topic on fire prevention, for which prizes of $10, $7 and $3 will be awarded for the three best entries from each school.

Thanks to the company, the students were able to gain first hand practical experience in how to control a fire and the picture shows John Berry of Altona North Technical School trying his hand at putting out a mock blaze.

Altona $74,000 in rate arrears

Altona Council has carried forward more than $74,000 in rate arrears.

In spite of this, town clerk, Mr. S. Fell said the arrears had been reduced by $2600 and this amount was considered fairly satisfactory in view of the recent rate rise.

The list of arrears consisted mainly of pensioners, bad payers and various sundry lots.

Despite this list, council has still budgeted for a break-even point in its estimates this year.

In his report to council, Mr. Fell said $11,125 was owing by pensioners who had 26 properties within the city limits.

Bad payers owed $11,600 and sundry lots at Altona Meadows owed a further $17,600.

Sundry defaulters, who owed rates for one year, or part thereof, totalled $9712.

Mr. Fell said $1773 had been collected since October 1.

Hockey players praise council

It's not very often that a council gets a letter of praise.

The Altona Hockey Club saw fit to write such a letter — and praised the city's parks and gardens curator, Mr. Boyd on his excellent work in maintaining the grounds in peak condition.

The letter from the hockey club said, "Would you please convey to council our club's appreciation of the interest council has taken in our club this season.

"We would like to make special mention of the co-operation of your parks and gardens curator, Mr. Boyd, whose efforts in preparing our new grounds are greatly appreciated by the club.

"It goes without saying that our present grounds were again kept in immaculate condition," the letter stated.

Lack of police cover worries councillors

Altona Council has expressed its concern over the lack of adequate police protection in the area.

In a letter to council, Mr. A. W. Knight, MLC, said he had asked the Minister for Local Government when it was proposed that the Altona Police Station would be manned 24 hours a day.

Mr. Knight told council that the answer he received stated that the station was manned from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. each day, a total of 16 hours. For the remaining eight hours, the station was visited periodically by a divisional van.

In his report to council, town clerk, Mr. Sidney Fell, said he had been told that, at this stage, it was not possible for additional personnel to be made available to man the station 24 hours a day.

Mr. Fell said that correspondence had recently been sent to Mr. Knight, asking him to obtain information as to the progress being made towards the construction of a new police station at Altona North.

Councillors noted the matter and took no action.

No writers so case adjourned

Witnesses, interpreters, police, defence counsel and an accused man were all left high and dry at Williamstown's court sitting on Thursday.

The reason? No shorthand writers up to detail the committal proceedings against a man accused of attempted murder.

Stipendiary magistrate Mr. Duggan was faced with the committal of a man for trial — but he had no help in recording the evidence.

Appearing before the court was Paula Sisa of 2 Hearn Street, North Altona, who was charged with attempting to murder Radé Mihajlovic at North Altona on August 11 this year.

Sisa was also charged with causing grievous bodily harm, shooting with intent to murder and unlawful assault.

Mr. George Hampel, for Sisa, told Mr. Duggan that shorthand writers were supposed to be available for the committal, but it was not until the morning of the court sitting that he was advised that nobody would be available.

Mr. Hampel submitted that it would not be appropriate to have the police evidence taken in precis form by the magistrate's assistant as there would be considerable cross examination of witnesses.

In asking for the case to be adjourned to the City Court on November 30, Mr. Hampel said even then there was no guarantee that shorthand writers would be available even then.

Mr. Duggan asked, "How long is it anticipated this hearing would last?"

Mr. Hampel said it would take at least two days, without the assistance of shorthand writers.

In agreeing to the adjournment, Mr. Duggan said he would make every effort to see that shorthand writers were available on that date.

Sisa was released again on his former bail of $500 with a similar surety.

Costs for all the witnesses were awarded against the Crown.

New members wanted by Altona Jaycees

The newly formed Altona Jaycees held their inaugural monthly dinner at the Williamstown Rifle Club Hotel.

Mr. Ron Austin, an honorary probation officer was guest speaker. He showed a film on violence, followed by an informative talk on the problems of group violence, particularly in the western suburbs.

A lively discussion took place between members as to the cause of this problem and the possible solutions.

Parents and the social system came under fire for their apathy towards understanding youth and assisting them with their problems.

Teenagers were also criticised for irresponsibility and lack of feelings in attacking defenceless people to gain attention.

The majority of members felt that harsh punishment was not the answer to the problem. They felt that more would be achieved if the community tried to understand and communicate with today's youth.

One important aim of terested people are asked to contact the president, Mr. Mike Stevens, at 38 Dove Street, Altona. Phone 398 3597 or 399 2333.

Floral art, featuring roses, is always an added attraction.

Visitors to the show will be able to select their next season's plantings from the blooms on display and place their order at the nurserymen's trade displays in the hall.

There will be an information table at the show, staffed by expert rosarians who will be happy to answer questions and give advice on roses and rose culture.

Facilities will be available for visitors to join the Rose Society of Victoria and each new member on joining will receive FREE. A plant of a miniature rose in a container.

First Communion

Pictured above are Father Gallagher (far left, third top row) and Sister Andrea (far right, third top row) with 70 children from Newport's Sacred Heart School and neighboring primary schools.

The picture was taken by Williamstown photographer, Barry M. Sutton, after the children's first communion.

Father Gallagher was recently appointed Parish Priest at Sacred Heart and Sister Andrea teaches at the school.

PENSIONERS TO PUT THEIR CASE

The Western Suburbs area committee of the Combined Pensioners' Association is calling a meeting to outline details of its campaign for improved conditions for pensioners.

The meeting will be held in the Scout Hall, Hyde Street (near the Footscray Railway Station) on Monday, November 12 between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Campaign points to be outlined include:

- (1) Low rental housing and accommodation
- (2) Elimination of Council and MMBW rates.
- (3) Free travel on public and privately-owned transport.
- (4) Improved hospitalisation.

The committee is seeking all these improvements for base-rate pensioners.

Speakers will be the Federal Secretary, Mrs. I. Ellis and the Victorian president, Mr. R. W. Mills.

WRC Committees get guidelines

Guidelines for committees from the Western Regional Commission were laid down at the commission's last meeting.

Delegates decided only municipal councillors, elected by their councils as delegates, could chair committees.

Minutes and records of all committee meetings must be recorded and copies, provided for the commission, including recommendations the commission may accept, alter or reject.

The meeting gave committees power to co-opt any help it desired and which was available and ruled that committee chairman will be spokesman for their committees.

Commission secretary, Mr. Bill Williams said, membership would be restricted to accredited delegates of municipal council, because this was the intent of recent Federal Government legislation.

Williamstown Football Club ground improvements committee will hold a mask ball at Williamstown Town Hall next Monday, November 5, starting at 8 p.m.

For tickets ($10 double smorgasbord, Peter Williams Continuous Band, BYO). Ring 397 7738.

Planned events

Events planned by organisations in the Williamstown-Altona area in the near future include:

Legacy in land talks

Representatives of Melbourne Legacy have been invited to discuss the possibility of accommodating elderly widows in Bayview Street with members of Williamstown Council's works committee.

Legacy has asked Williamstown Council for the use of 3½ acres of Commonwealth land, which is occupied by the council.

A motion by Cr. Peter Lalor to refuse the land on the grounds that the area was needed for public open space became defeated.

Cr. Lalor said the area was vital for recreation and he thought it was too close to the foreshore.

The amendment to discuss the matter with Legacy was made by Cr. Leo Hoffman.

"The area is not ideal, but if we invite representatives of Legacy to discuss the project, at the public works meeting, we may find an alternative," Cr. Hoffman said.

FETE

Children will be running their own stalls at the Fete of St. Mary's School on Saturday, November 3.

The fete, to be held at 51 Sargood Street, Altona, will have raffles, wheels and lucky dips as well as a variety of stalls.

WW & WMA

The W.W. and W.M.A. meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 7, at 1.30 p.m. in the RSL Hall, Geelong Road.

The 25th annual party will be held on November 14, at 7.45 p.m.

Christmas church activities

In view of the approaching Festive Season, arrangements have already been completed for several interesting gatherings at St. Stephen's Co-operative Parish Church.

On Tuesday, November 6, the Sunday School children with parents and friends will travel by steam train to Maddingly Park, Bacchus Marsh — sharing the train with other Sunday schools. The train will leave at 9 a.m. and return at 5.40 p.m.

The Adult Study Group continues to meet fortnightly at the Methodist Parsonage.

Special arrangements have been made for a pleasant Sunday afternoon service to be held on Sunday December 2. The Australian Boys' Choir will be in attendance.

On Sunday, December 23, a "Carols by Candlelight" service will be held.

Visitors will be welcome to attend these functions.

ZESTFUL ACTING IN 'BYE BYE BIRDIE'

By a Special Writer

Members of the Williamstown Light Opera Company threw themselves into the musical Bye Bye Birdie with great gusto and energy last week.

Christine Andrew's role as Rose Alvarez was one of the best performances the company has ever provided.

Although the voice of Alan Burrows was a little strained at times, he is a very talented actor and dancer and this compensated for his shortcomings.

Joline Black, who had the best lines also provided some of the best moments in the performance. Brad Smith and Julie Findlay were both memorable.

Although the story centres on the rock and roll star Conrad Birdie, the role is not in fact a large one. Peter Smitemam looked and sang like a rock star of the 50s, but the delivery of his lines did not convince the audience that Conrad was uncouth.

Peter Bailey and Marilyn Bergin both contributed to this noisy, lively fun show.

Alan Burrows should be congratulated for the choreography and Russell Murphy for the production. They had the cost really involved.

The sets were not up to the usually high standard and the orchestra on the opening night was disappointing, but this did not dampen the overall exuberance of the performance.

Ranger Extension talks Nov. 13

West Metropolitan Ranger Region Extension Auxiliary's next meeting will be at the Peter Frazer Hall, Barkly Street, Footscray, on Tuesday, November 13.

The meeting will start at 12.30 p.m. and a 'bring-and-buy' stall will be held in conjunction with it.

A representative of the group said yesterday its aim was to help the Extension Ranger Guides in the western region.

The present project was to raise money for a mini-bus for transport of girls in the group.

Extension ranger guide groups were made up of girls who were physically handicapped, so transport was a necessity.

Members of the public were urged to help even if they could not attend the meeting, the representative said.

Future plans included a stall next April and for this, gifts of odd material or wool would be appreciated.

People wishing to help should contact Mrs. Bond, at 1 Simpson Street, North Sunshine, the representative added.

SCOUTS ON RADIO 'JAMBOREE'

There was great activity at 'The Pines' scout camp, Altona last weekend when just on 230 scouts held their 16th annual 'Jamboree on the Air'.

The Jamboree on the Air was organised by Gellibrand district, which includes Altona, Williamstown and Newport scout groups.

Visiting Scouts also came from near and far to join in the activities, some from other areas such as Croydon and Plenty districts.

The Jamboree on the Air is a world-wide scout activity which is made possible by the assistance of radio hams in many countries.

In setting up a transmitting and receiving radio station within the Pines scout camp, scouts and guides were able to convey and receive greetings and messages from other members of the scout movement in various parts of Australia and overseas.

Last weekend, Gellibrand district made contact with a total of 78 other stations including South Africa, Japan, New Zealand, Tasmania and many in all mainland States of Australia.

Much credit for the success of the venture was due to the eight or nine radio hams who took part and to scout leader John Wilson who, besides being a keen radio ham, was responsible for co-ordinating the well planned effort.

Despite the wintry conditions, a large crowd of visitors came along to witness the many varied activities arranged for the boys, and special thanks must go to the St. John Ambulance Brigade, Footscray Civil defence, Altona Yacht Club and radio controlled aircraft from Geelong.

Chest check

Compulsory chest X-rays will be held in the Altona, Williamstown area next year.

Altona council expressed concern in the matter and agreed to make its own health staff available to assist with the preliminary survey of the Williamstown electors before the X-rays are carried out.

The Health Department told council the X-rays would be held in May next year and would be compulsory for all people over 21.

All costs associated with the survey will be met by the department.

WHS RE-UNION

Sixty 'old boys' who had gone to Williamstown High got together again for the first time in 30 years.

Mr. Archer is pictured (below) holding a photograph. Others shown are (from left), Messrs Alan Parry, Phil Smith, Peter Hardie and Bob McNish.

Mr. Hardie, who is now Victorian Liberal Party president, spent his early days at Sunshine. He was one of the boys and girls from throughout the Western Suburbs who converged on Williamstown High.

The school "down the line" was then the only high school in the entire area.

There are now 10. The atmosphere was lively (left) as they met and mingled at a reunion dinner at Footscray RSL.

Three of their teachers of the war years, the early 40s, were invited along and they were given the floor to talk about the teachers and the times.

Pictured is one of the teachers, Mr. Leo Archer. He held aloft a photo of his colleagues of the staff of 1944 — final years for most of those present — and went through them one by one.

There was hilarity as he referred to teachers well remembered by the students in their school days and told anecdotes involving some.

Mr. Archer, is himself principal of Heathcote Hill High in Springvale nowadays, used the names of teachers as they were known to staff colleagues.

Mr. Jack Charles, another former teacher, said that Williamstown High was a popular school with the teachers. Once a teacher taught there, he wanted to stay on.

He philosophised about the staffroom. He referred to Hec Grieve, the caretaker of the school but known as the 12th man for his association with the teachers.

Mr. Alec Sinclair rose to speak, to cries of "Sandy".

Mr. Sinclair, down from Castlemaine where he has retired after being Castlemaine Technical College principal, recalled, "Tim Ritchie used to get a kid off balance — he would start his moving when he was off balance and he would keep up the momentum and get the kid out of the room before he collected his balance."

Former student Noel Weatheritt, down from Bendigo, rose to issue an appeal for any ex-student of Williamstown High who might have a photo of the late Mr. Townsend.

He said he was in touch with Mr. Townsend's family — his wife was some 90 years old — in Bendigo and they regretted not having a photo of Mr. Townsend.

Mr. Brian Reidy, now in an executive role in the ICI organisation, reported that he had met a former senior mistress at the school, Miss M. Burns, in Bendigo a year or two ago.

Miss Burns, too, was around 90 — "but she hasn't changed one bit," he said.

Fiftieth anniversary issues, (1965) of the school magazine Hold Fast, were presented to the guests of honor, the former teachers.

No fewer than 20 boys of the Form 5 of 1944 were at the reunion dinner.

ALAN ORDAINED INTO MINISTRY

A Newport man has been ordained into the Baptist ministry.

He is Alan Marr, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Marr, Speight Street, Newport.

Alan attended Newport State School and was a foundation student of Altona High School. During this time he was a Sunday school pupil and later, a member of the Newport Baptist Church.

While serving as a clerk with the PMG, Alan was called to the ministry and entered Whitley College where he gained a diploma in theology. He was also chairman of the students disciplinary board.

Alan and his wife are now serving a full-time ministry at the Mordialloc Baptist Church.

Altona High School's senior soccer team, which played St. John's College last Wednesday, won the Western Schools division soccer premiership for 1973. Mrs. E. Walder the sports mistress and captain, Robert Gilpin, 18, (holding the pennant) are pictured with the winning team.

McRae for Sandown

Triple Tasman Cup champion Graham McRae will fly to Melbourne to race in the Australian Grand Prix at Sandown on Sunday, November 4.

McRae, a 32-year-old New Zealander now based in Europe, confirmed his entry to the Light Car Club of Australia recently.

His entry followed track-testing of his latest 170 mph McRae GM2 Formula 5000 racer at England's Oulton Park circuit early last month.

McRae will arrive in Australia with his English mechanic a few days before the car and will be helped by Sydney's Bob Atkin in getting it ready for the Grand Prix.

McRae's new car is a much-modified version of the single-seater which carried him to the checkered flag at last year's Australian Grand Prix at Sandown.

Old building appeal lost

"The bulldozer has moved in to pull down the house with the beautiful stained glass windows," Cr. Doug McDonald said at Monday night's Williamstown Council meeting.

Cr. McDonald was commenting on Mr. R. Kimber's appeal against council's determination to build a nursing home in Osborne Street on the site of an old building.

The appeal was rejected by the Town Planning Appeals Tribunal.

"The gentlemen in the rarified atmosphere of Collins Street decided what's best for Williamstown," Cr. McDonald said.

"My heart goes out to Mr. Kimber, who lost his case. It's a lost cause now. I hope one or two people will shed a tear when they see the bulldozer," he added.

Cr. Ron Dawes said the nursing home was a long felt need and claimed the old house was uneconomical.

"We've got to accept it whether we like it or not in good grace," he said.

Snake problem is here again

Mr. Ralph Willis, MHR, will be asked to get the Army to eliminate the Williamstown snake problem on a permanent basis, Williamstown Council decided on Monday night.

Cr. Peter Lalor said there have been many complaints about snakes in Williamstown, which were infesting homes near the Rifle Ranges. "Twenty five of them were killed in the past fortnight," Cr Lalor added.

Firth makes a comeback

Harry Firth (below) will race again at Melbourne's Sandown Park Australian grand prix meeting on Sunday, November 4.

He will drive the ex-Stirling Moss Maserati 300S sports racing car now owned by former touring car champion Bob Jane, in an event for vintage and classic racing cars.

Moss, known as the greatest driver never to win a world championship, drove the Maserati to victory in the 1956 Australian Tourist Trophy at Albert Park, Melbourne.

In that year, he won six other major races in the car — the grands prix of Buenos Aires, Venezuela and Bari and trophies at the Nurburgring, Silverstone and Nassau.

Firth, known for his skilled management of the Holden dealer team race and rally Toranas, has won at Bathurst and was a national rally champion in 1968.

In the past five years he has masterminded three national rally titles, a Bathurst win and a manufacturer's championship for the Toranas.

Firth set up the Maserati as a race winner when Jane bought it back in 1957. Firth tuned it and sorted out the gear ratios.

The 300S has a 2991 cc straight six engine and Firth's speciality is tweaking up sixes in Toranas to outperform V8s.

If he breathes the same fire into the 300S, the other old-timers at Sandown won't see him.

Chivas' second KLG win

Fifty-one-year-old veteran Sydney driver, Doug Chivas, has become the only driver to win the gruelling 500 kilometre KLG International rally twice in succession.

Chivas flung his works Mitsubishi Lancer GTR (above) through mudbath conditions in forests along Sydney's Blue Mountains last weekend to trounce his younger opposition.

The KLG victory capped a month of successes for Chivas.

He was third in the four-day Southern Cross International Rally and second in the Bathurst 1000 motor race after dramatically running out of petrol whilst in the lead.

Chivas won the KLG by just three-quarters of a point from his Lancer team leader Doug Stewart.

A third team member, Barry Ferguson was third, three-and-a-quarter points behind Stewart to win his eighth. NSW rally championship on points.

Ferguson's nearest rival, Arthur Jackson (Datsun), lost 200 points when he slid off the road shortly after midnight in the slippery conditions and became bogged.

International ace, Scotsman Andrew Cowan, lost his victory chances less than 300 yards from the start when his Lancer GTR rolled on a tight down-hill corner.

Cowan and navigator Brian Hume crawled from the up-turned car, righted it and completed the competitive section only two minutes behind their rivals with their windscreen out and Cowan's crumpled door slamming open.

Cowan finished fifth on 80 points behind Chivas 72½, Stewart 73, Ferguson 76½ and Griffith, NSW, driver Bruce Hodgson (Falcon GT) 78½.

Only half the field of 72 starters completed the 17-hour rally. Chivas said at the finish it had been the hardest one-night event he had contested.

Cycle goes from yard

A Williamstown student has had his cycle stolen from the back-yard of his parents' home.

He is Peter Couch, of Melbourne Road. The cycle is a dragster with a 20in. front wheel and 16in. back wheel, and has a blue-colored, 20in. frame.

It has a parcel rack on the front.

Police believe the cycle was stolen by a thief using a lane behind the unfenced backyard.

Two Permewan stores close

Permewan Wright, the big grocery chain which had a brief reign as the third biggest grocer in Australia — is changing its face in the Western Suburbs.

Permewans closed their Altona store last Saturday, and are currently having a big 'pre-closing' sale at their store in Douglas Parade, Williamstown.

A housewife who shopped there on Monday says she was given a 30 per cent. discount on her purchase.

A senior executive of the company said this sale would continue, and stock was currently being replenished "by the truck-load."

The closure of these two stores is part of a long-standing policy in the recent turbulent history of Permewans.

The firm jumped out of relative obscurity when it bought the big but ailing Moran and Cato group.

It was the climax of a long drive by Permewan to change its role from a country grain merchant to a supermarket chain.

At the time of the takeover stockbrokers in Sydney reported glowingly on the future of the company.

However many of its small stores were uneconomic and no hope of reaching modern standards.

The policy of selling off those that could not be made profitable was begun.

Permewan, whose own directorship at that time could in no way be called avant-garde, then got economic indigestion from Moran and Cato's and in turn became a takeover target (and victim).

The new owners intent to concentrate on the big and economic shopping centre aspect of their trade.

To this end they expect their Newmarket premises, which were extended, to hold a strong position in Western Suburbs retailing.

Permewans since the last takeover, have been the first, and so far the only, grocer to import an English and American innovation — the 'half-case warehouse'.

In these shops housewives rub shoulders with corner store owners and other business buyers and get their groceries at wholesale prices in minimums of half-case lots.

In another retailing de-

WINDOWS SMASHED

Seven windows at the Burleigh Street, Newport, plant of BP Pty. Ltd. have been smashed by vandals.

Police called to the scene found rocks had been thrown at all windows in the factory's amenities block, smashing seven.

Williamstown police are investigating.

Williamstown, the agents have denied rumors that there is anything amiss with the Williamstown market in Ferguson Street.

Rumors had asserted that the market was about to close and staff were being laid off.

The agents said nearly all stalls were occupied and the market, which has been open for about three months, was coming along quite well.

There were plans for the later development of the upstairs section.

Case is adjourned

Witnesses, interpreters, police, defence counsel and an accused man were all left high and dry at Williamstown's court sitting on Thursday.

The reason? No shorthand writers were available to detail the committal proceedings against a man accused of attempted murder.

Appearing before Mr. Duggan, SM, was Paula Sisa, of 2 Hearn St., North Altona who was charged with attempting to murder Rade Mihajlovic at North Altona on August 11 this year.

Sisa was also charged with causing grievous bodily harm; shooting with intent to murder and unlawful assault.

At the request of Mr. George Hampel, defence counsel, the case was adjourned to the City Court on November 30.

Witness costs were awarded against the Crown.

Speed, not give
and licence

Speeding and not giving way to the right at an intersection cost a Newport man $70 in fines and his probationary licence, at Footscray Court

Joseph Mario Schecke, of Lyons Street, Newport, pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding 35 mph in Geelong Road, Footscray last April 22.

He pleaded not guilty to a charge of not giving way to a vehicle on his right at the intersection of Geelong and Ballarat roads.

Highway Patrol police gave evidence they followed a car driven by Schecke at a steady 55 mph in a 35 mph zone in Geelong Road about 9.20 a.m. last April 22.

At the intersection with Ballarat Road, a motorist on Schecke's right was forced to brake to avoid collision, they told Mr. G. Miller, SM.

The car was carrying 'P' plates. Schecke told them he did not realise he was travelling so fast and did not see a car on his right at the intersection.

Schecke told the court, "as far as I remember, there was no car on my right."

Mr. Miller found both charges proved.

He fined Schecke $40 on the speeding charge and $30 for not giving way to the right and cancelled his probationary licence, which was due to expire in October, 1975.

After the previous week's abandonment of matches, Altona bowlers returned to the pennant scene with all three teams winning.

A1, playing at home, narrowly defeated Yarraville-Seddon by 1 shot, 93-92. Syd Carton's rink, with a fine 30-18 win contributed significantly to the victory, but stirring work from F. Neilsen and his rink against top skipper A. Massey over the last three ends of the match ultimately led Altona to its one-shot victory.

Div. 3, travelling to Clifton Park, romped away from the home side with a fine 36-shot victory 103-67, once again all skippers proved victorious.

B5, playing at Glenroy, followed A1's example and earned two precious points by only 1 shot (103-102) skipper W. Condon's magnificent 16-shot victory led the way.
